

Winter Lesson

Winter is a grandmother forgetting her fingertips no longer hold warmth as she strokes my cheek

Her silence the visible breath rocking me between birth and death
birth and death

© anne richardson 2016

