Winter Solstice

Sun hidden behind flannel sheets clouds soaked with night too weary to pull them back takes the day to rest.

Moon visible behind lingering wisps of fog lulling in the sky bathed in day's light filling the gray with promise.

© anne richardson 2016

